The matter was argued by the Ld. Counsel of the respective parties at length and during the course of hearing on 1.9.2014, some queries were raised by us from both the Ld. Counsel but they, instead of responding those queries instantaneously, requested to grant an opportunity to file written submissions and assured that the response to all the queries will be furnished in the written submissions.

The petitioner was required to file its written submissions on 4.9.2014 and at the insistence of the Ld. Counsel for the respondent, the petitioner was directed to furnish a copy of its written submissions to the respondent.

Ld. Counsel for the respondent was simultaneously directed to furnish its written submission within a week thereafter.
The written submissions as furnished on behalf of both the parties are on record for our perusal and consideration. We can now deliberate on the issue for final adjudication.
